TABLE OF CONTENTS

: A SENSE OF SPACE 4

SPACE, THE FIRST FRONTIER 5
Temporal space 11
Sense. 14
Subjectivity/objectivity 17
Perception 19
Significance of space. 24
SPACES OF EXISTENCE 27
SPACELESSNESS 32

: CONTAINMENT 37

BOUNDARIED SPACE 38
FUNCTIONS OF BOUNDARIES 39
The necessity for a territorial boundary. 40
The necessity for security 49
The necessity for control over a boundary. 52
BOUNDARYLESSNESS 55
CONTAINMENT 61
Loss or lack of boundaries 63
Edges 64
PSYCHIC FUNCTION OF BOUNDARIES 65

: CREATING SPACE AS AN INDIVIDUAL 66

DEVELOPMENT OF PERSONAL SPACE 67
Boundaried space necessary for individuation 71
Boundaried space for social development. 81
DEFINING PERSONAL BUBBLES OF EXISTENCE 83
ASPECTS OF INDIVIDUAL INNER SPACE 85
Spiritual space 85
Dream space 90
Symbolic creative space 92

: SHARED SPACE 100

INTRODUCTION: INTER-PERSONAL SPACE 101
GROUP TYPOLOGY 104
Group size 108
Religious groups 111
Authority within a group 114
RELATEDNESS WITHIN SHARED SPACE 120
Community 120
Therapeutic community 123

: FORECLOSED SPACE 127

FORECLOSURE 128
FORECLOSED PHYSICAL SPACE 133
Physical group foreclosure 133
Physical lack of space for an individual 138
PSYCHIC FORECLOSURE 145
Foreclosure by certain group dynamics 145
Personal foreclosure of an individual 150

: RECREATING SPACE 154

INTRODUCTION 155
INDIVIDUAL THERAPEUTIC SPACE 156
CREATIVE USE OF THERAPEUTIC SPACE 162
Art 162
Play 163
Dance 164
Drama 164
THERAPEUTIC ENVIRONMENT 165
Inter-connectdness 168
Inter-relatedness 170
CONCLUSION 173

PHOTO 1 : FOETAL ULTRASOUND - THE FIRST AND POSSIBLY MOST IMPORTANT BOUNDARIED SPACE 4
PHOTO 2: OUTDOOR SCULPTURE OF ABORIGINAL ROOTS AT RITCHI PITCHI, ALICE SPRINGS, AUSTRALIA. ... 37
PHOTO 3: SINGLE ORCHID 66
PHOTO 4: A CULTIVATED GARDEN, A CERTAIN SHARED AND BOUNDARIED SPACE. 100
PHOTO 5 : OUTDOOR SCULPTURE IN EAST JERUSALEM. 127
PHOTO 6 : UNDERWATER EXPLORATION OF AN OCEANIC, POTENTIALLY DANGEROUS, SPACE (WHICH FOR SOME IS THE LAST FRONTIER FOR EXPLORATION,FOR OTHERS THE LAST FRONTIER IS THE UNCONSCIOUS). 154