TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. TITLE PAGE

2. DEDICATION

3. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

4. ABSTRACT

5. LIST OF TABLES

6. LIST OF APPENDICES

7. CHAPTER ONE
   1.0 Interdependence and English Language Instruction
   1.1 Definition and Characteristics of Attitudes
   1.2 Development of Student's Attitudes towards English
   1.3 Statement of the Problem
   1.4 The purpose of the study
   1.5 Statement of the Hypotheses
   1.6 Definition of Terms
   1.7 Limitations of the Study

8. CHAPTER TWO
   2.0 Previous Literature
      2.1 The Relationship between the Learners' Attitudes and Those of Their Families
      2.2 The Relationship Between Learners' Attitudes and Those of Their Teachers
      2.3 The Relationship Between the Learners' Attitudes towards Foreign Language, the Speakers and Culture of that language.
2.4 Studies on Attitudes and Proficiency 27

2.5 Foreign Language Attitude Change 27

CHAPTER THREE (29-46)

Method and Procedure

9. Target Population from the West Bank and of Centres 80/81 Target Population at NWTC and NWG. Target 15 Negative Items.
   30

3.0 Target Population 29

3.1 Sampling Procedures
   Rates of Positive Attitude Items as valued in the West
   30 Bank on a Five-Point Scale.

3.2 Development of the Research Tools

3.3 Constructing the Scale
   Rates of Negative Attitude Items as valued by the West Bank on a Five-Point Scale.
   33

3.4 Piloting the Instrument
   Test Sections, Description and Number of 39

3.5 Procedures of Finding Battery overall Reliability
   40

3.6 Item Differentiation
   Gasana and West Bankers Grades on the FLAQ.
   49

3.7 The Study
   West Banker's and Gasana's Grades on both of 40
   the Foreign Language Test.

10. CHAPTER FOUR (47-53)

Results and Analysis

11. CHAPTER FIVE (54-57)

Conclusion and Recommendations

5.0 Conclusions

5.1 Recommendations

12. Appendices

13. Bibliography 119

14. ABSTRACT IN ARABIC